

Byarozavik ORGANIC BIRCH WATER FROM WILD HARVESTS

A Traditional Natural Drink

For many generations in Northern and Eastern Europe, birch water is harvested for a few weeks in the spring. The sap is filled with nutrients during this short period when the tree trunks are tapped. For centuries, birch water has been used in traditional medicine.

Byarozavik Birch Water is hand-harvested by experts in a nature reserve where trees are carefully selected. Within 24 hours the fresh sap is filled into bottles.

- freshly tapped from the birch tree
- high manganese content
- pasteurised, not diluted
- not from concentrate
- only 15 kcal / 100 ml

Ingredients:
organic birch water (97.3%),
organic cane sugar, citric acid.

Contains 2.7g organic cane sugar and 0.8g naturally occurring sugar (per 100 ml).

 BELORGANIC
NATURPRODUKTE
info@belorganic.com
www.belorganic.com

Our trade with organic products is certified by AT-BIO-301